

first choice for your...

flow meter certification

Servitech International manufactures and services the former Warren Jones product line, now marketed by GLI International, and therefore has extensive experience in servicing and calibrating most types of open channel, ultra sonic flow meters.

Through our programme of planned maintenance, tailored to your exact requirements, we can keep your open channel flow meter reading correctly, allowing you to keep within your consents or make sure the correct charges are applied to your outfall discharge. Our certification has been developed over many years and is accepted as part of many companies' ISO procedures and is also recognised by the regulatory bodies.

Please contact us for a quotation and see if we can save you money.