

first choice for your...

systems integration

The complete package solution, every time! This is the philosophy that Servitech applies to every complete system application that is presented to us.

- Do you have a monitoring application?
- Do you know what types of instrument are available?
- Do you want the complete solution from specification and design through to installation, commissioning, and subsequent maintenance?
- How can you be sure the system will deliver what you require?

Bring your application to Servitech and we can address all the above. We can analyse your application and, drawing on our extensive market experience and instrumentation knowledge base, can recommend what equipment is going to give you the best results with least possible cost of ownership. We can then put together a complete turnkey package incorporating all the relevant aspects of the installation.

So whether you need a simple pH control loop, or river intake protection system, through to parameters that will aid control of your process and then monitor and sample your effluent, Servitech International can handle your instrumentation project from start to finish.

One supplier with the widest choice and ultimately, the best solution!
